JACOB PIPE SYSTEMS set new benchmarks in food safety. The latest example: The blue U-shaped seal. It can be detected by metal detectors. As a result you can quite simply prevent seals or parts that accidentally may find their way into your production process, for example during assembly, from contaminating your products. The blue U-shaped seal belongs to the JACOB FOOD GRADE® product line. In its market segment, it is the first product family in Europe to comply with both European Regulation EC 1935/2004 and the American FDA food standards. With over 3,000 products, we are systematically expanding our FOOD GRADE range to include state-of-the-art innovations. Test the new "blue" – available exclusively from JACOB as a secure connection for pipe wall thickness of 1 to 3 millimetres.
